VOL. XVIII.] MONDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1817. [No. 5068.

For the prevention and cure of
BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS
is recommended
HAHN'S ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Phœnix Nail Works.

CHARLES SLADE having obtained the agency of the above works for this District, a regular supply of NAILS and BRADS will be kept at his store, on Prince-street, and RICHARD SLADE'S store, upper end of King-street, and sold on the same terms as they can be obtained at in Philadelphia. These nails are esteemed by the carpenters superior in quality to any manufactured in the United States; and the works are now bro't to such perfection as to enable the proprietors to render them as low as the most inferior qualities.

Blistered steel, cotton twist or yarn, with other domestic articles, may be had at the above stores on as good terms as at Philadelphia. Likewise, a large and extensive assortment of BAR IRON.

The object in offering these goods at the most reduced prices, is to accommodate their back-country friends, so as to render it as unnecessary for them to repair to other markets for supplies of domestic goods as it is for those that are imported.

INTERESTING ANECDOTE.

A man in middling circumstances, who had followed a trade all his life, was on his death bed, and was giving advice to his sons who stood around him. When he came to the subject of Politics, he told them,

'That in all Elections, during his life, he had made it a rule to find out on what side the great body of the poor people of a middle grade of wealth were to be found, and that he always joined their side, and never found that he had made a mistake.'

Some would smile at this, as a rule of conduct in elections; and yet there is wisdom in it. A principal object of all governments is to protect the weak and poor; the strong and rich, are able to protect themselves. That government is the best, where the poor and middle classes of society are the best taken care of and provided for.

In England, the whole government seems to be made and supported for the rich and powerful alone. If one man out of 500, who is called a Lord, riots in luxuries and wealth, no care is had for the 499 who labor for their subsistence.

In the United States, the government is intended for the support, protection, and happiness of the whole mass of the people.

England is the place for Aristocrats, and for all who wish to give an overbearing influence to birth and wealth.

The United States is the proper place for Republicans, and for all who respect the equal rights of the people at large. [Lancast. Int.

THE STANDARD OF TRUE HONOR.

There are I believe few terms more commonly used, few sounds more generally captivating than that of honor. From the moment when our infancy ceases, to that in which old age begins to creep upon us, it is the theme of every pen, the boast of every tongue. lover's vow, and the statesman's judicial declaration. But notwithstanding mankind thus unanimously agree in idolizing honor, there is no one principle more differently defined, no one word to which a greater variety of meanings have been applied by different classes of men, than this self same honor. Go forth into the world and ask what is honor? The soldier will tell you it is bravery, and the prompt revenging every real and supposed injury; the tradesman, honesty in his dealing: the highwayman, fidelity towards his comrades; the man of the world, courage sufficient to fight a duel. If then it be true that the opinions of men upon this subject differ so materially, and that each person finds that conduct honorable which is agreeable either to his interest, or his usual habits of thinking and acting, surely it will not be easy always to discriminate between true and false honor, unless we can discover an unerring standard by which to try them. Happily for the world there is such a standard, and always at hand,—the passions may mislead, self interest bias, judgment deceive, and men, even good men, differ materially from each other. But, there is a rule, certain, unvarying, applicable to every case. It came from Heaven. No appeal can lie from its decisions—No authority be pleaded against its dictates. There is no action or principle of human life to which the precepts of the christian religion cannot be applied. Since the blessing of that light has been given to the world, honor, in its common acceptation, is at best useless, a nomen inane, a brutum fulmen. But is too often perverted to purposes positively bad, and this may always be known, if the action to which it be applied, be tried by the rules of the 'sacred page.' These are the true spear of Ithuriel, touched by which, all the vanity, falsehood, and folly appear in their true light. If this be the true test, I find that a man of honor may embitter my happiness in this life; and deprive me of the hopes of a better; he may poison my domestic enjoyments, ruin my fortune, and at last murder myself—but that acts upon christian principles, can do me nothing but good hereafter. DREADFUL VOLCANO.

Various letters from Baujoewangle mention, that towards the middle of January, the mountain Idieng, situated about 24 leagues from Baujoewangle began to break out and spread fear and desolation over the surrounding country. On the night of the twenty third and twenty fifth of January there was a great eruption, immense columns of fire and smoke, and inflammable substances, ascended from the mountain with a noise similar to that of thunder or artillery: the earth quaked even as far as Baujoewangle. A prodigious quantity of cinders, earth and sand, vomited forth by the mountain, soon covered all the neighboring fields, and utterly destroyed the crops of rice, which had before presented the most beautiful appearance. The air became so surcharged with clouds, ashes, and sulphurous smoke, that it was scarcely possible to respire, and for several days afterwards the light of day was scarcely visible at Baujoewangle. The greater part of the birds of the air have perished, and along the rivers nothing is to be seen but dead fish floating on the surface of the waters. Enormous blocks of stone, and trees of a prodigious bulk, were precipitated with a fearful crash from the highest mountains, and overwhelmed in their courses, houses, bridges, and every thing which they encountered. The rivers every where burst their banks, and in many places rose as high as 15 feet above their ordinary level. The affrighted inhabitants fled from all parts of the place towards the shore and town of Baujoewangle, but were stopped at every step, in consequence of the roads being rendered impassible by the inundation and the destruction of the bridges. The subsequent news are somewhat more assuring; the mountain has ceased to emit any more fire, but the atmosphere still continues darkened with clouds of ashes and smoke, nor have the inundations yet abated. The desolation occasioned by this disastrous phenomenon is fearful; and there is reason to apprehend that it will occasion a great scarcity of provisons. Many people are suffering under diseases, occasioned by the quality given to the waters by the ashes, and a general mortality has seized the horned cattle. In the district of Gabag a mountain tumbled down on the 27th of February, and burned eight families who lived under it. A similar event took place in the night of the 4th or 5th of March, in the district of Talaga, when a number of houses with all their inmates, ruin, and not a trace of their existence left. [Batavia paper.

SINGULAR WAGER.

On Monday a person in the employ of Mr. Marks, coach-maker, on the London road, undertook, for a wager of forty guineas, to run a coach wheel the distance of thirty miles in six hours. The ground fixed on for the performance of the arduous undertaking was the Regent's Park, the circumference of which is about three miles and a quarter; he started at half past one o'clock, and completed the wager at 24 minutes past seven in the evening, being 6 minutes within the time with perfect ease. He performed 14 miles the two first hours. [London paper.

APPLICATION OF SCRIPTURE.

A Nobleman advised a French bishop to make an addition to his house of a new wing in the modern style.—The bishop immediately answered him, "The difference, my lord, that there is between your advice and that which the devil give to our Saviour, is, that Satan advised our lord to change the stones into bread, that the poor might be fed, and you desire me to turn the bread of the poor into stones."

A SAILOR AT THE PLOUGH.

A gentleman in New-York, wrote to his friend in Connecticut, and enquired of him what was the situation of the political affairs of that state, and what were their prospects; to which he received the following answer:

"Our prospects remind me of the declaration of a sailor who had hired himself to a farmer, and was set to plowing with a yoke of oxen and an old mare called Jenny. While the sailor was absent for a draught of water, the team became restless and got into great disorder. He bawled for help. His master ran to him and enquired what was the matter. "For God's sake, hurry, said Jack, for the larboard ox has got on the starboard side, and old Gin has got foul in the rigging, the ship is on her beam ends, and they are all drifting to the devil stern foremast."

How improper it is for a mind at rest to judge of other men's passions; and how foolish to ridicule the sensations we have never felt.

SIR JOHN FALSTAFF.

The Gazette and Daily Advertiser of Albany, N. Y. adverting to the essays published in this paper, on the subject of Sir John Falstaff's character as a soldier, observes, "What Shakespeare's intention in drawing the character was we cannot pretend to say; but in public opinion Falstaff has been universally considered as an old, humorous, vaporing, cowardly, lying, drunken debauchee." The articles published in our paper on the subject stated all that; and the writer of them avowed that his object was to demonstrate that the public opinion in that respect was wrong. One of the most striking excellencies in the writings of Shakespeare is the consistency of his characters. Of all poets in the world he was the last who could be guilty of the absurdity of putting a character he intended to exhibit as a great coward in circumstances which required the greatest bravery, or to represent as such, a man to whose capacity as a military officer, generals, princes and kings gave the most unequivocal of all possible testimonies—that of employing him, giving him command in their armies, going into the field with him, and calling him into councils of war. It should be recollected that the loose opinions of the public cannot fairly be allowed to weigh at all against the recorded words of the poet, because the character has no existence, nor ever had, but in those words; and the public generally see represented on the stage but a small part of the character, and that almost wholly the worst side of it.

As to the fact maintained by the editor of the Albany Gazette—namely, that "the knight, whom Shakespeare has ridiculed in that whimsical compound, Sir John Falstaff, was a valiant general, of an ancient family, born at Yarmouth, in Norfolk, about 1377"—it may, perhaps, be true, though it is not decisively ascertained that that was Shakespeare's object. It is certain that Sir John Fastolfe "attended the duke of Clarence as lord lieutenant of Ireland, that he was, at one time covered with laurels bravely won in the field, that he was hospitable, generous and benevolent, that he was (at one time at least) young and grave, discreet and valiant, chaste and sober, and eminent for every virtue." Why then, it may be asked, have the world supposed that he was the original whom Shakespeare caricatured into Falstaff? Could it be on account of the resemblance in the sound of the two names? That of itself, one would think, could never have given rise to the suggestion. We must look further, therefore, than to common opinion for a reasonable conjecture—to Lempriere's Abridged Biography for the whole of the circumstances, which, if fully understood, would in all probability help to throw a distant gleam of light upon Shakespeare's design. History informs us that Sir John Fastolfe did, in fact, notwithstanding his high renown, lose all his laurels, and was stript of all his honors, for an act, whether of real personal defect or casual misfortune it is hard to say; but, in truth, an act of gross cowardice. If the reader will look into Hume's History of England, reign of Henry 6th, he will find the whole related with historical fidelity. Sir John Fastolfe, at that time esteemed one of the most noble and valiant knights living, was employed in the wars in France under the renowned TALBOT, and had a high command in the British army at the time that the French, animated by the celebrated Maid of Orleans, chased the English from that city. In a battle at the village of Patay, the English, dismayed, fled from the field; and Sir John Fastolfe, who commanded them, first showed them the example. In consequence of which, he was stript of his garter, as a punishment for his cowardice. So says Hume. And as we know, from a subsequent work of Shakespeare, that he dwelt upon that event with some degree of emphasis, the probability is, that it furnished him with the first conception of that mixture of apparent coward and radically brave man, or, at worst, that dubious mixture of his fancy, Sir John Falstaff.

The disgrace of Sir John Fastolfe is commemorated by Shakespeare in the tragedy of Henry 6th; and, as we have brought the subject on the carpet, we will transcribe the scene for the information and amusement of the reader.

"To king Henry. Gloster. Talbot, and other courtiers,"

Enter Sir John Fastolfe.

Fastolfe. My gracious sovereign, as I rode from Calais
To haste unto your coronation,
A letter was deliver'd to my hand,
Writ to your grace, from the duke of Burgundy.

Talbot. Shame to the duke of Burgundy, and thee!
I vow'd, base knight, when I did meet thee next,
To tear thy garter from thy craven'd leg, [plucking it off]
(Which I have done) because unworthily
Thou wast installed in that high degree.
Pardon me, princely Henry, & the rest:
This dastard, at the battle of Patay,
When but in all I was six thousand strong,
And that the French were almost ten to one,
Before we met, or that a stroke was given,
Like to a trusty squire did run away;
In which assault we lost twelve hundred men;
Myself, and divers gentlemen beside,
Were there surprised & taken prisoners.
Then judge, great lords, if I have done amiss;
Or whether that such cowards ought to wear
This ornament of knighthood, yea, or no.

Gloster. To say the truth, this fact was infamous,
And ill becoming any common man;
Much more a knight, a captain, and a leader.

Talbot. When first this order was ordained, my lords,
Knights of the garter were of noble birth;
Valiant and virtuous, full of haughty courage,
Such as were grown to credit by the wars;
Not fearing death, nor shrinking for distress,
But always resolute in most extremes.
He then that is not furnished in this sort,
Doth but usurp the sacred name of knight,
Profaning this most honorable order.

SPANISH TROOPS EMBARKING.

A Madrid paper of the 31st of August, states that in the month of October, an expedition of 4 or 5000 troops, with the necessary munitions of war, would sail from Cadiz bound to Peru; and that in November 2000 more would proceed fr. Cadiz to the South American coast, and would then be directed according to circumstances. The same paper states that there is no foundation for the report that foreign troops were to aid in subduing the Spanish colonies. [ibid.

AMELIA ISLAND.

A letter from St. Mary's, dated 25th October, says—"It is very sickly at Amelia Island, 5 or 6 dying daily. Since the death of Governor Hubbard, things have been rather more tranquil, but the late governor's party are still very much dissatisfied. Most of the prize property brought in to Amelia, has disappeared, in different ways. Tom Seaborn, formerly of Charleston, was stabbed by his wife, a short time since, and died immediately."

Another letter, of same date, says—"Mr. Starr, prize-master of the Morgana, died at Amelia yesterday—it is very sickly both at St. Mary's and Amelia, the latter the worst. Three vessels arrived here to-day from the North, with provisions. Commodores Taylor & Champlin, are both daily expected here, when we expect things will be better regulated at Amelia than at present. The U. S. brig Saranac, has sailed on a cruize."

From the National Intelligencer, Nov 7.

The question, on which there has been so much difference, or rather so little agreement in opinion between our principal Naval Officers, respecting the proper scite for a Naval Depot on the Chesapeake, is yet undecided. We perceive, a meeting of the inhabitants of the counties in Virginia bordering on York river, is invited by advertisement in the Enquirer, to be held at Williamsburg, on the second Monday in December, to consider the subject, with reference to the interests of that particular country, to the security of the Metropolis of Virginia, and of the valuable commerce of the Chesapeake. If such meetings could be expected to control the decision of this question, we should expect to see the people of the western shore of Maryland on the alert in behalf of their own interests, which are so materially concerned that the depot should be established at St. Mary's. Neither would those of Norfolk slumber at their posts, if their activity could influence the selection. But, we presume, the question is one to be decided by its own merits, with reference to the general interests of the Navy, and not by the wishes of any particular part of the numerous population of the shores of Chesapeake Bay. It is probable, we think, that, so long delayed, the decision will now be deferred until the PRESIDENT shall, as it has been understood he intended, make the tour of the Chesapeake, with a view to examining the prominent points of the coast, and determining on the best means of defending the entrance of this important estuary.

Hamilton, (Bermuda,) Oct. 8.

A singular accident happened to the schooner Problem, Pitty Hawkes, master, on his voyage from hence to the West Indies—from whence he has just returned. He relates, that on the 7th of August, being under the lee of the island of Domanica, about 3 or 4 miles distant, standing in with a gentle breeze for the town of Roseau, his vessel all of a sudden came up, with her sails shaking in the wind. The crew immediately sang out that she had struck upon a rock: but as captain Hawkes knew that the water in that neighborhood was noted for being very deep, he sprang on deck, and discovered a fish, apparently about 30 feet long, rising up to the top of the water astern, and bleeding very profusely. It was conceived at the moment that the schooner had merely struck upon the fish as it lay asleep, and that the keel had wounded it, which caused the flood of blood that tinged the water. But on discharging the cargo at Barbados, the horn of a fish was found sticking up four inches in the hold, after having in an oblique direction pierced through a 2 inch oak plank on the outside, and part of a timber and a 2 inch plank in the ceiling. This horn, which still remains in the vessel's bottom, may now be seen, by calling on board the said schooner Problem, in St. George's harbor.

PUZZLE FOR LAWYERS.

In one of the counties of Hungary, a case has been produced by nature, which furnishes the Hungarian lawyers with an opportunity to exercise their ingenuity. On a steep declivity of the river Bernath lay two vineyards, one above the other; the higher one, detaching itself from the rock, glided down the declivity upon the lower vineyard, which it now entirely covers. The question is, who is the owner of the vineyard, and who is considered the loser.

If we do not so often as formerly call the attention of our readers to political discussion, it is not because we have abandoned our faith, "renounced our enemys, and sought to be admitted into the bosom of the great republican family."—The aspect of the times is peaceful, and it is desirable that it should not be needlessly disturbed. The sky is cloudless, and we wish it may not be overcast.—The administration no longer alarm the friends of the country by a mad and ruinous policy. Federalism ceases its warfare, because the objects of that warfare are accomplished.

But if the sword is sheathed, it is not thrown away. It will still be worn as a weapon of defence; though we trust it will long remain quiet, notwithstanding the efforts that are daily made by a few restless spirits to provoke it from its scabbard.

It requires but a glance at the democratic papers of the day to see the unremitted exertions that are made to rekindle the flame of civil dissention. Democrats (we mean the "baser sort") are more provoked with the federalists than ever; because the conduct of the latter, at the present time, gives the lie to the charge of indiscriminate opposition to the government. They are mortified at the consistency of principle exhibited by federalists (who have uniformly contended for "principles, not men") in regarding with complacency the present administration, and in ceasing war against the government when the government ceases to wage war against the principles of Washington. No art is left untried to re-enlist the passions and prejudices of the cabinet at Washington against men whose only crime has been that of uniformly advocating, "through good report and evil report," that system of measures which, it is now admitted on all hands, is alone consistent with the honor and interest of the country. What effect their exertions are to have remains to be seen. If the administration imbibe the rancor of some of their partisans, federalists must again put themselves on their defence; but, in the mean time, we trust the latter will not suffer themselves to be provoked to furnish fuel for the flame which is attempted to be rekindled. SOIL AND CLIMATE OF THE AMERICAN TERRITORIES.

In our Journal, for September, 1816, we gave some general observations on the soil and climate of the U. States, with remarks on the manners of the people.—Political rancor fastened upon a few abstract speculations, incidentally introduced into that paper; & a certain writer, by a process of reasoning which he admitted to be "uncandid," endeavored to impute to the editor, opinions which he had not maintained. It was the main object of our article to give information to foreigners, who wish to emigrate to this country. So far, this zealous patriot, suffered us to pass unquestioned, and, as we did not choose to submit our political creed to his inquisition, his animadversions received no attention from us.

The subsequent letters enable us to fill up some parts of our outline, and we should feel much obliged to gentlemen of practical experience for any further information respecting the resources and strength of the country. Owners of oil who are endeavoring to procure settlers and purchasers for their wild lands, may be induced to regard this request with some attention; when we inform them that this journal is regularly published in London, shortly after its appearance in this city,—and that an English gentleman who was about to emigrate to this country, and who saw our number for June 1816, resolved not to decide upon any spot for an investment of his funds, until he had travelled through Susquehannah county. It would afford us great satisfaction to be able to impart any information to the strangers, who are daily visiting our shores in search of a resting place.—Philanthropy points to the widows and orphans who have been deprived of the comforts of home by the quarrels of the world, and who now seek an asylum for distress, and a relief from oppression. Let us then prepare our fruitful fields and offer them the protection of a government of equal rights and equal laws.

"Oh, sir, says Owens, there never was any thing in this world so badly managed as the prosecution: why the d——l did they let them bother me so, without ever taking my part as they promised, and after they told me that my pardon was signed and all objections?"

"Well, Mick, but what are they going to do with you now?" he asked."

"Why, sir, they say they will give me 40 guineas, and send me to America; but, by J——s, they never were more mistaken in their lives, for I never will leave Ireland till I rob another mail-coach, now that I have got my life; and I will go to O'Connel yet about the potatoes, and for making such a show of me, when I had got my pardon from government and the Post-office, and been made a honest man again, as they all told me."

Being employed by his master's team in carrying gravel on the road, he sent a boy, who was then assisting him, forward on some trifling pretence; he then laid his whip and hat down together at a distance of a few yards, and deliberately placed himself in a longitudinal direction, with his face down, his hands being underneath his face, in the track of one of the wheels of the cart, which passing over his head, back, thigh and leg, caused instantaneous death. It is supposed an imprudent connexion with a female fellow servant was the cause of this desperate act.

Notice

To the Creditors of the Family of GEO CARTER, deceased.

Gentlemen,

IT has become expedient for me to solicit of you further time in which I may discharge the balances yet due to you; and meanwhile that you would forbear to institute suits. Such indulgence, if you grant it, will facilitate and hasten the voluntary discharge of debts, which, before I assumed them, you are sensible that I could not have been legally compelled to pay. For inducement to such lenity, permit me to point out the fund whence your claims shall be acquitted, and also the time when. The time, if you consent to forbear the institution of suits, (which imply delay and unnecessary costs) shall not exceed six months from this date. The fund accrues from the result of the final decree rendered in Nov. 1816, in the case of Carter and others against Cutting and others, by the operation of which more than fifty thousand dollars, principal and interest and costs, have been adjudged due to this family. My undisputed and indisputable interest, in a portion of this fund, is adequate, and shall by me be applied to satisfy all your demands upon this family. The original amount of those demands you know that I have diminished by repeated payments heretofore made; and recently, by an assignment of three years' rents of the Parke Estate; and finally, by the absolute sale of my own slaves to exonerate those of minors, that otherwise could not have been delivered to the young owners. Moreover, in proof of my zeal to obtain proper means for the extinction of your just demands against the family of my adoption, I can, without ostentation, refer you to the unwearied toil and prudence of my general proceedings, which indeed have not been relaxed during the past ten years. Not one of you, I think, will deny, that my course has been marked by an inflexible adherence to justice, self-denial, industry and frugality—humble qualities (it is true) and often neglected by lofty people; yet, nevertheless, which persons, in circumstances of mediocrity, appreciate on account of their moral utility; qualities, that for such as exercise them, ensure ultimate fidelity to engagements, and which are peculiarly estimable in correct debtors, because they both cherish the ability and evince the resolution to satisfy their just creditors.

For Sale or Exchange

FOR property in or near the District of Columbia,

A Plantation,

in a rich and flourishing part of Kentucky, near Louisville, on the Ohio. The Tract contains about 250 acres, mostly strong rich Land, 30 or 40 of which are cleared, and under partial improvement, the rest in timber. This land is well calculated for the culture of tobacco, hemp, corn, wheat and flax, part of it being what is called bottom land, of a deep, luxurious, and inexhaustible soil, and part of it upland. There are on the Tract, cabins, corn cribs, a smoke house, &c. in the usual style of that part of the country; and within musket shot of the principal improvement is a good mill. The whole is centrally and advantageously situated on Cose's creek, a branch of Salt river (which is navigable for boats) having Shepherdsville on the north, distant about 16 miles, Louisville on the northwest distant 22 miles; Springfield and Bealisburg on the southeast; Bairdstown on the south distant 12 miles; Middleburg on the east distant 8 miles; Shelbyville and Frankfort (the seat of government) on the northeast distant from the former 22 miles; and Middleton on the north distant 20 miles. The country abounds with salt licks.

The vicinity of this plantation to Louisville, is a consideration of no small importance, as that town is evidently destined to be the great emporium of the state. The rapid advance in the price of property within a few years, already manifests its improvement, prosperity and wealth.

For further particulars, and for the terms, which will be liberal, apply by letter or otherwise, to the undersigned, at the City of Washington. Title indisputable. The land is now held under a general warrantee.

John Jackson & Co.

James Kennedy & Son,

BOOKSELLERS,

KING-STREET, ALEXANDRIA,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they have just received from

Lee's Medicine Store,

No. 46, Maiden lane, New-York, a fresh supply of the following valuable MEDICINES:

Hamilton's Worm-destroying Lozenges,

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Teres or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitine or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tænia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.

Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted gums; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and fœtid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.

Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

The Restorative Powder for the Teeth and Gums.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS AND MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

HAHN's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of person can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficatious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A sovereign remedy for colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, sore throats, catarrhs, and approaching consumptions.—To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small that no difficulty arises in taking it.

Hamilton's Grand Restorative,

Is recommended as an invaluable medicine for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

Nervous Disorders	Violent cramps in the stomach and back
Consumptions	Indigestion
Lowness of spirits	Melancholy
Loss of appetite	Gout in the stomach
Impurity of blood	Pains in the limbs
Hysteric'l affection	Relaxations, etc.
Inward weaknesses and debility

Hamilton's Essence and Extract of Mustard.

A safe and effectual remedy for acute and chronic rheumatism, gout, rheumatic gout, palsy, lumbago, numbness, white swellings, chilblains, sprains, bruises, pain in the face and neck, etc. etc.

Lee's Ointment for the Itch.

Warranted an infallible remedy at one application, may be used with perfect safety by pregnant women, or on infants a week old, not containing a particle of mercury or any dangerous ingredient whatever, and not accompanied with that tormenting smart which attends the application of other remedies.

Hahn's true & genuine German Corn Plaister.

An infallible remedy for corns, speedily removing them root and branch, without giving any pain.

The Genuine Persian Lotion,

So celebrated among the fashionable throughout Europe, is an invaluable cosmetic, perfectly innocent and safe, free from corrosive and repellent minerals, the basis of other lotions, and of unparalleled efficacy in removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflamatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

Hahn's genuine Eye Water,

A sovereign remedy for all diseases of the eyes, whether the effect of natural weakness or of accident.

Tooth Ache Drops.

The only remedy yet discovered which gives immediate and lasting relief in the most severe instances.

Lee's Infallible Ague and Fever Drops

For the cure of agues, remittent and intermittent fevers.

☞ At the place of sale pamphlets may be had gratis, describing cures performed by the above medicines; the number, importance and respectability of which, fully justify every article of this advertisement.
